Part-Time Faculty in Education

Grissom School of Education at the University of Tennessee Southern has periodic openings for part-time, adjunct faculty to teach and/or supervise Teacher Candidates in various courses. The position’s principal responsibility is teaching and/or observing Teacher Candidates and, as appropriate, providing these candidates with academic or career advising. Further, the position is responsible for demonstrating academic competence in the appropriate subject matter area.

Areas of potential need: Supervision of Clinical Practice: must have experience observing and evaluating teachers under the TEAM model.

Supervision and/or Teaching course work for Elementary, PE, Special Education and Secondary (Biology, English, History and Math), appropriately certified for professional education courses: must have K-12 appropriate experience.

Requirements:
- Master’s degree in Education or related field, with 18 graduate semester hours in Education
- 5 years experience in K-12 schools
- 3 letters of recommendation from the district in which applicant is/was employed (must include supervisor)
- Participation in any meetings and/or training required by the School of Education

Screening of applications begins immediately and will continue until the position is filled. A complete application consists of a letter addressing the qualifications cited above; curriculum vitae; official transcripts; and the names, addresses, telephone numbers, and email addresses of at least three professional references. Other documentation may be requested.

Applications and nominations should be sent to the office of Academic Affairs via USPS or email. No phone calls please.

Attn: Dianne Bass
UT Southern
433 West Madison Street
Pulaski, TN 38478

OR electronically to: ebass2@utsouthern.edu

The University of Tennessee Southern, is a liberal arts, four-year College, originally formed under the name Martin Methodist College, founded in 1870, and related to the Tennessee Conference of The United Methodist Church. In 2015, the Master of Business Administration offered its first classes. With a historic campus located in Pulaski, Tennessee, in the beautiful hills of southern Middle Tennessee, The University of Tennessee Southern is convenient to both Nashville (70 miles to the north) and Huntsville, Alabama (40 miles to the south).